Choosing to Begin a Home Education Program

Choosing to begin a Home Education Program

Home education is an option for a growing number of parents. Some parents prepare their own materials and design their own programs of study, while others use materials produced by companies specializing in homeschool materials. Some take advantage of virtual school programs or other educational resources available on the Internet. Of course, exercising this option may require major changes in your family schedule. Teaching your children at home is an ambitious undertaking, requiring time, planning, creativity, and commitment.

Questions to Consider about Home Education

- Have you identified curriculum materials for your child, and how much they will cost?
- Is there a suitable place for your child's study and instruction?
- Do you, your spouse, or another homeschooling parent have adequate free time to be available to your homeschooling child?
- Do other families in your area home school their children?
- Is there a support group of homeschoolers near you?
- If you are interested in some outside instructional support, have you checked your local library, parks department, scouting organizations, public and private schools, and similar resources?
- Have you searched the Web for resources on instruction, legal issues, support groups, and other matters?
- Have you identified other resources you will need?

Requirements

Section 1002.01, Florida Statutes (F.S.), defines home education as the sequentially progressive instruction of a student directed by his or her parent or guardian in order to satisfy Florida's compulsory education requirements.

Florida Statute 1002.41 specifies the responsibilities of parents who establish a home education program.

- Send a written notice of intent to the school district superintendent. The notice must be filed within 30 days of beginning the home education program and must include the following information:
 - Name of the home education student(s)
 - Birthdate(s)
 - Address
 - Parent's signature
- Maintain a portfolio of educational records. Statute defines a portfolio as
 - A log of educational activities which is made contemporaneously with the instruction and which designates by title any reading materials used, and
 - samples of any writings, worksheets, workbooks or creative materials used or developed by the student.
- Make the portfolio available for inspection by the superintendent upon 15-day written notice (The statute does not require the superintendent to inspect all portfolios).
- Provide an annual educational evaluation of the student's educational progress to the superintendent. The evaluation must consist of one of the following:
 - A Florida certified teacher chosen by the parent may evaluate the child's progress based on a review of the portfolio and discussion with the student.
 - The student may take any nationally-normed student achievement test administered by a certified teacher.
 - The student may take a state student assessment test at a location and under testing conditions approved by the school district.
 - The student may be evaluated by a psychologist holding a valid, active license pursuant to section 490.003 (7) or (8), F.S.
 - The student may be evaluated with any other valid measurement tool as mutually agreed upon by the parent and the superintendent.
- Preserve each student's portfolio for two years.
- Submit a letter of termination and annual evaluation to the school district superintendent upon completion of the home education program, enrollment in a public or private school or moving from the district.

Frequently Asked Questions and Answers

Definition and Responsibilities

1. What is home education?

Section 1002.01, Florida Statutes (F.S.), defines home education as the sequentially progressive instruction of a student directed by his or her parent or guardian, in order to satisfy the requirement for compulsory education as defined in Section 1002.20(2), 1003.01(13), and 1003.21(1), F.S. Current law does not prescribe a curriculum or course of study for home education programs.

2. Who can teach in a home education setting?

Any parent who complies with the reporting, record keeping, and student evaluation requirements specified in statutory law may conduct a home education program. The parent is not required to be a certified teacher. Home Education parents may choose whichever curriculum or materials they'd like for their child's home education program. There are no specific hourly attendance requirements or curriculum requirements for students in a home education program as they are not a district student. There is no requirement for districts to provide instructional materials to home education students. All instructional materials and supplies must be provided by the parent.

3. What are the responsibilities of parents who establish a home education program?

As required by Section 1002.41, F.S., to establish a home education program and maintain compliance with the statute, a parent must:

- a. Send a written notice of intent to the school district superintendent. Districts should verify that the notice was received. Parents should also retain a copy of the Notice and documentation that the notice was received by the district. It is advised that if the Notice is mailed to the district that parents send the Notice with a Return Receipt Request showing that the district did in fact receive the Notice. If emailed, the parent should print a reply from the district that the Notice was received and keep it in the child's file.
- b. Maintain a portfolio of records and materials consisting of a log of educational activities made contemporaneously with the instruction, and that designates by title any reading materials used, samples of any, writings, worksheets, and creative materials used or developed by the student
- c. Make the portfolio available for inspection by the superintendent upon a 15-day notice. (The law does not require the superintendent to inspect portfolios.)
- d. Provide a copy of the annual evaluation of the student's educational progress to the school district superintendent. Parents should retain a copy of the evaluation and documentation that the evaluation was received by the district.
- e. Preserve each student's portfolio for two years.
- f. Submit a letter of termination and annual evaluation upon completion of the home education program. Upon a change of residence, the parent should notify the district to which the child is moving that the parent is transferring their home education program to the new district, and the district home education contact must request the records from the previous district.

4. Is there a specific format districts should utilize to maintain home education student records?

According to s. 1002.41, F.S., districts should maintain the following records for Home Education students: Letter of Intent, Annual Evaluations, and the Letter of Termination. Any additional information, required for the student's participation in district services, dual- enrollment, Bright Futures, etc., may also be obtained and maintained for the home education student. All other home education student records are the responsibility of the parent to maintain.

5. Are home education students bound by the required school hours that apply to public school students?

No. There are no specific hourly requirements for students in a home education program.

6. Do parents have access to any state-appropriated funds for home education?

The only state funds that may be used by home education families are available through the Gardiner Scholarship Program for students with disabilities. Information on this program is available at <http://www.fldoe.org/schools/school-choice/k-12-scholarship-programs/gardiner/>

7. May a home education student participate in virtual school classes, and if so, is there a limit on the amount of courses a home education student may take?

A home education student may take as many virtual classes as they wish through the district's virtual school, or the Florida Virtual School FLEX program through the Department. FLVS is required to confirm Florida residency for all students in an FLVS course, therefore, parents of home education students must provide proof of residency by providing their home education Notice of Intent signed by the student's school district home education office/coordinator. Should a home education student take any district virtual courses, the district may report the course(s) for funding during the school year, and may not report those courses for funding during the summer.

8. Does the school district have authority to exceed the Florida Statutes with local policies?

The school district must abide by the Florida Statutes regarding home education. A district may not enact policies that would apply additional requirements or ask for additional information that would make it more difficult for students to participate in home education.

9. Are home education students eligible for Bright Futures Scholarships?

Yes. Home education students may qualify for a scholarship through the Bright Futures Scholarship Program if they are registered with their districts as home education students for grades 11 and 12. The Florida Bright Futures Scholarship Program provides a Home Education Program Packet, which conveys eligibility criteria specific to home education students, including required college admission test scores, community service documentation, district registration confirmation, and dates for financial aid application deadlines. The Home Education Program packet is available from <http://www.floridastudentfinancialaid.org/ssfad/bf/homepac.htm> or by telephone, toll-free at 1-888-827-2004.

10. May a parent implement a home education program for a 5-year old who will not turn 6 by February 1 of the school year, even though regular attendance is not required until the following school year?

Districts are not required to accept a letter of intent for a 5-year old who will not turn 6 by February 1 of the school year; however, some districts have chosen to accept these letters. In that case, the home education parent should comply with s.1002.41 F.S. as stated in question # 3.

Instruction

11. How can a parent provide "sequentially progressive instruction?"

There are many different means a parent may use to provide "sequentially progressive instruction such as:

- a. Use a curriculum, or none at all, and instruct the student themselves;
- b. Enroll the student part-time in a public or private school;
- c. Enroll the student online in the Florida Virtual School FLEX program, a district virtual school, a private virtual program or other online resources;
- d. Enroll the student in correspondence courses or private school video program;
- e. Enroll the student in dual enrollment courses at a college, university or career and technical school or college;
- f. Hire a tutor;
- g. Take classes from a program designed for home education students, through a home education cooperative or community like Classical Conversations; or
- h. Participate in 4-H, Toastmasters, TeenPac, Patriot Academy, museums, internships or other programs available in the state.

Options are limitless. Parent(s) may tailor the student(s) education using any means necessary that meets the needs and interest of their child(ren).

12. May home education parents dually enroll a home education student at a postsecondary institution?

Yes. Home education students may enroll directly with the postsecondary institution pursuant to Section 1007.271(13) F.S., or enroll in dual enrollment classes offered at a public school in the district. Parents should check with the district home education office for information on class availability and location. If a home education student enrolls in a dual enrollment course through the school district, the district can then receive funding for that class and provide the instructional materials for the student free of charge. If a home education student enrolls at a state college, funding is provided through the Dept. of Education to the state colleges to provide the instructional materials to home education students free of charge. Students need to check with the state college to determine how to obtain the instructional materials.

13. Do home education students receive a diploma?

There is no diploma issued by the public school system in Florida for the completion of a home education program. A signed affidavit of completion (notarized letter) submitted by the student's parent attesting that the student has completed a home education program, pursuant to the requirements of FL St.1002.41 is the legal document of completion. As stated in s.1007 263(2)(a) it is equivalent to a high school diploma and is regularly accepted by state colleges and universities as proof of high school completion. This statement can be included on a student's academic transcript or parent-issued diploma. While not required, some students elect to culminate their home education program by taking the General Educational Development (GED) test. A student is issued a diploma from the Department of Education upon passage of the test. The toll free number for information pertaining to the GED is 1-800-237-5113.

14. Do students who have been home educated have the option to return to public school and receive credit for their home education courses?

Any school age student who has been continuously registered as a home education student has the right to enroll in a Florida public school. Students with documented disabilities may enroll in a public school through age 21. Florida Statute 1003.4282(7) and the Florida State Board of Education Rule 6A-1.09941, govern the grade placement and transfer of credit for home education students. According to State Board Rule 6A-1.09941, a home education student transferring into a public school shall be placed at the appropriate sequential course level and should have a minimum grade point average of 2.0 at the end of the first grading period in order to receive credits. Students who do not meet this requirement shall have credits validated through an Alternative Validation Procedure.

15. How may a parent contact other parents who have chosen home education for their children?

There are many home education support groups in Florida. Some of these meet in person while others are on Facebook or other social media. In addition to local support groups, there are also statewide groups to support home educators. Florida Parent Educators Association (FPEA), a statewide support group, may be contacted toll-free at (877) 275-3732 or online at <http://www.fpea.org>.

Evaluation

16. What does the annual educational evaluation include?

A student in a home education setting must be evaluated once a year to demonstrate educational progress at a level commensurate to the child's abilities. The parent/guardian selects the method of evaluation from those provided in Florida Statute, then files a copy of the evaluation annually in the superintendent's office. The evaluation must consist of one of the following:

- a. A Florida certified teacher chosen by the parent may evaluate the child's progress based on the review of the portfolio and discussion with the student;
- b. The student may take any nationally normed student achievement test administered by a certified teacher;
- c. The student may take a state student assessment test used by the school district and administered by a certified teacher, at a location and under testing conditions approved by the school district;
- d. The student may be evaluated by a psychologist holding a valid, active license pursuant to the provisions of Section 490.003 (7) or (8), F.S.; or
- e. The student may be evaluated with any other valid measurement tool as mutually agreed upon by the school superintendent of the district in which the student resides and the student's parent.

17. What is the definition of a portfolio?

Section 1002.41, F.S., defines a portfolio as "A log of educational activities which is made contemporaneously with the instruction and which designates by title any reading materials used and samples of any writings, worksheets, workbooks, or creative materials used or developed by the student." The portfolio shall be preserved by the parent for two years and shall be made available for inspection by the superintendent, or the superintendent's designee, upon a 15-day written notice. The superintendent, or the superintendent's designee, is not required to inspect portfolios.

18. How does a parent locate an evaluator for the annual evaluation?

Parents may contact the local district home education office or a state or local parent group to obtain the names of available evaluators. All evaluators for home education students must have a current certification in academic subjects at the elementary or secondary level in the state of Florida. Of the five evaluation options described in the law, three involve a certified teacher, as seen in question 16.

19. May a district set a deadline for the annual evaluation?

According to 1002.41, F.S., a parent of a home education student must submit an annual evaluation demonstrating educational progress commensurate with their child's abilities. "Annually" is defined in Florida Statute as one year from the date of the letter of intent, therefore the parent may submit as close to that start date as possible.

20. Does the home education student have the right to take standardized tests at the local school district?

Yes, school districts are required in s.1002.41(12) to provide industry certifications, national assessments and statewide, standardized assessments that are offered by the school district to home education students.

21. What is the appropriate recourse when a district does not receive an annual evaluation on a home education student?

Section 1002.41, F.S., requires the parent to provide for an annual evaluation of the home education student. Failure to do so places the home education program in non-compliance and permits the superintendent, after notice to the parent, to terminate the program.

22. If a home education student, who is 16, does not submit an annual evaluation, are districts permitted to terminate the home education program for the student?

Yes, if the district has notified the parent of failure to complete an annual evaluation, the parent does not provide a portfolio for review, AND the student has not submitted documentation to “drop-out”, the district may terminate the home education program. Otherwise, the district may not terminate a home education student upon turning 16. Should a student wish to terminate their home education program at 16, the family must notify the school district. Section 1003.21, F.S. requires that students terminating enrollment at age 16 must be notified that their earning power is likely to be reduced. It is in the best interest of the student for the district to maintain home education records until the completion of high school.

23. Are districts permitted to use FLVS transcripts as a method of evaluation?

FLVS transcripts may be used as option (e) under question 16 regarding annual evaluations for home education students if the parent chooses that method of evaluation. There is no statutory language prohibiting a parent of a home education student from providing a FLVS transcript for an annual evaluation IF it is a mutually agreed upon method between the district and the parent under s. 1002.41(1)(f)(5), F.S.

24. May a parent receive an extension to the annual evaluation deadline?

A parent who is unable to meet the evaluation deadline should communicate with the school district and request an extension. The fifth evaluation method listed in statute allows districts and parents to work out an alternative evaluation method if none of the other four methods are available. However, nothing in the law requires a district to give an extension.

Nonattendance-Truancy

25. Can the parent of a student who has been found to exhibit a pattern of nonattendance enroll that student in a home education program?

Yes. However, at the time that a student who has been found to exhibit a pattern of nonattendance is enrolled in a home education program, the home education contact will:

- a. Provide the parent or guardian with a copy of the home education law, Section 1002.41, F.S., and the accountability requirements of the truancy law, Section 1003.26(1)(f), F.S.; and
- b. Refer the parent to a home education review committee composed of members as specified in Section 1003.26, F.S.

Once the committee determines that the home education program is in compliance, the parent will no longer be required to submit a portfolio to the home education review committee. The parent will be required to comply with the requirements of a home education program pursuant to Section 1002.41, F.S., as is with any parent involved in a home education program. If a truant student who has been enrolled in a home education program fails to provide a portfolio for review by committee, the district shall terminate their program. The parent may not enroll that student into a home education program for 180 days after termination, and must enroll the student into a different attendance option found in s. 1003.01(13) F.S. within three days, or the parent may be subject to criminal prosecution under Section 1003.27(2), F.S.

26. How will the home education contact know which students have been found to exhibit a pattern of nonattendance?

When a public school student's study team determines that a student has been found to exhibit a pattern of nonattendance within the public school, the law requires that the principal of the school notify the superintendent of schools and the district home education contact. The home education contact is expected to maintain this information to verify whether a student who is being enrolled in a home education program has been found to exhibit a pattern of nonattendance. Once a student has been found to exhibit a previous pattern of nonattendance, the parent must submit a portfolio, as defined by Section 1002.41, F.S., to be reviewed by a home education review committee every 30 days until the committee determines that the home education program is in compliance with Section 1003.26, F.S. The first portfolio review must occur within the first 30 calendar days of the establishment of the home education program.

27. How can I get more information about truancy and driver's licenses for home education students?

As part of the penalty for non-attendance, a public or private school principal is required to report the student who accumulates 15 unexcused absences in a 90-day period to the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles under s.1003.27(2)(b) & (c). The DHSMV will either not issue a driver license or suspend any previously issued driver license to that individual. For more information contact the Florida Department of Motor Vehicles at (850) 922-9000, or visit their website at <https://www.flhsmv.gov/>.

28. Which member of district personnel is responsible for processing waivers for employment of home education students?

School districts are not required to process waivers for employment of home education students except to confirm, with a release for information from the parent, that the student is enrolled in home education. For more information about waivers go to <http://www.myfloridalicense.com/DBPR/child-labor/>.

Interscholastic Extracurricular Activities

29. May home education students participate in "interscholastic extracurricular activities" offered at public schools?

Yes. An "extracurricular activity" is defined as "any school-authorized or education-related activity occurring during or outside the regular instructional day", (Section 1006.15, F.S.). There is no difference between an "extracurricular activity" and an "interscholastic-extracurricular activity, the terms are used interchangeably. Section 1006.15 F.S., requires that home education students be given the same opportunity as public school students. Home education students are eligible to participate at the public school to which they would be assigned according to district school board attendance area policies or the school which the student could choose to attend through the district's Controlled Open Enrollment Policy under s.1002.31 F.S. District policies will determine which schools are available for a student to choose under s.1002.31 F.S. based on same residency requirements as other students. The district must allow home education students to participate in a class during the day if the class is required in order to take part in the extracurricular activity, such as band class in order to take part in the school's marching band or strength and conditioning class for participation on the football team, pursuant to Section 1006.15(5), F.S. Under Section 1006.15, F.S., the student must meet the same immunization requirements as students attending any public or private school. Furthermore, a district cannot develop policies that restrict the access of home education students to extracurricular activities.

The law also allows home education students to develop an agreement to participate in "interscholastic extracurricular activities" at a private school and, under s.1006.15(5)(a) F.S., a home education student can participate in extracurricular activities through a home school cooperative.

30. What grade levels are allowed to participate in interscholastic extracurricular activities?

Section 1006.15, F.S., primarily addresses students in grades 9-12 but does not prohibit students in lower grades from participation. Section 1006.20(1) defines "high school" as grades 6-12. Home education students may participate in extracurricular activities in grades 6-8 if the school is a member of the FHSAA. The by-laws of the governing organization regulate which students, and under what circumstances those students, may participate in the interscholastic extracurricular activity.

31. Do districts receive any funding when home education students participate in extra-curricular activities?

No, unless the home education student enrolls in a class required to participate in the extracurricular activity. The district may report that student for funding purposes. Additionally, home education students may be required to pay any of the fees or costs that are required of all participating students.

32. How are grade point average requirements applied to extracurricular activities?

In order to participate in extracurricular activities, a home education student must have the required 2.0 or better grade point average in academic courses. This applies to both public, private, and home education students. The law allows for a method of evaluation of the home education student's progress to be agreed upon by the parent and the principal. In s.1006.15(3)(c)(2), F.S., the evaluation may be based on a teacher's review of the student's work, grades earned through correspondence or at a postsecondary school, standardized test scores above the 35th percentile, or other method as allowed by Section 1002.41, F.S.

Exceptional Student Education

33. If a home education parent suspects that their child has a disability, is the school district required to evaluate the child?

The school district is obligated to "identify, locate, and evaluate" all children with disabilities, including those attending private schools and home education programs, in accordance with the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA). This evaluation must be at no cost to the parent. If the parent chooses to take advantage of these evaluation services in order to get an IEP, the parent should contact the exceptional student education administrator in the school district in which they reside.

34. What would be required of the home education parent?

The school district would require that the parent sign a written consent for the evaluation. The district is also required to review existing information on the child before conducting an evaluation. The parent may be asked to provide information from the child's portfolio and may also be asked to complete checklists and/or informal observations.

35. What is the school district's obligation, if the child is eligible for services?

After the evaluation is conducted, the parents will be invited to attend a meeting in which school district staff will review the outcome of their child's evaluation. The parent may choose to hire an educational advocate at the parent's expense to be included in the meeting. Following that review, a determination will be made regarding whether or not the child is considered an eligible child with a disability as defined by Florida State Board of Education Rules. The district may propose to provide some level of service to the child through the use of a services plan. For instance, if it is determined that the child needs speech/language therapy services, the school district could allow the child to come to a public school near the child's home for these services during the week. Section 1002.41(1) provides the mechanism for districts to reporting that child for funding purposes. If the district cannot provide these services and the parent chooses to enroll their child into a public school, the school must ensure that a free and appropriate education is made available to the child.

Dual Enrollment

36. Does a home education student have to receive permission from the school district to participate in dual enrollment on the community college campus?

No. College and state universities often request proof that the student is registered and in compliance with a home education program. If the student has to provide that information, it can be obtained from the local school district home education coordinator. If a home education student has an articulation agreement with the community college or state university, the school district must provide them with proof that the student is enrolled in a home education program pursuant to s. 1002.41 F.S. The district is not responsible for the transportation of a home education student to dual-enrollment classes.

37. Are home education students required to pay for their instructional materials?

As of July 1, 2018, s. 1007.271, F.S., no longer requires the articulation agreement to include a provision that the home education student is responsible for instructional materials. That same year, the Legislature included in the budget recurring funding to pay for the home education students' instructional materials. Funding is provided through the Dept. of Education to the state colleges to provide the instructional materials to home education students free of charge. Students need to check with the state college to determine how to obtain the instructional materials. The instructional materials for dual enrollment classes at State Universities is not included in this allocation since the Universities are not under the Department of Education.

38. May home education students take dual enrollment courses at district high schools?

Yes. Districts that have a part-time enrollment policy may enroll home education students in the school district and receive funding for the student. This is a local decision that is articulated in the district pupil progression plan. Districts are not responsible, however, for keeping course grades for the student.

39. Is there a minimum GPA for home education students to participate in dual enrollment?

A high school grade point average may not be required for home education students who meet the minimum score on a common placements test adopted by the State Board of Education which indicates that the student is ready for college-level course work; however, home education student eligibility requirements for continued enrollment in dual enrollment courses must include the maintenance of the minimum postsecondary grade point average established by the postsecondary institution.

The 2020 Florida Statutes

1002.41 Home education programs.—

(1) As used in this section, the term “home education program” has the same meaning as in s. 1002.01. A home education program is not a school district program and is registered with the district school superintendent only for the purpose of complying with the state’s attendance requirements under s. 1003.21(1). The parent is not required to hold a valid regular Florida teaching certificate.

(a) The parent, as defined in s. 1000.21, who establishes and maintains a home education program shall notify the district school superintendent of the county in which the parent resides of her or his intent to establish and maintain a home education program. The notice must be in writing, signed by the parent, and include the full legal names, addresses, and birthdates of all children who shall be enrolled as students in the home education program. The notice must be filed in the district school superintendent’s office within 30 days of the establishment of the home education program.

(b) The district school superintendent shall accept the notice and immediately register the home education program upon receipt of the notice. The district may not require any additional information or verification from the parent unless the student chooses to participate in a school district program or service. The district school superintendent may not assign a grade level to the home education student or include a social security number or any other personal information of the student in any school district or state database unless the student chooses to participate in a school district program or service.

(c) The parent shall file a written notice of termination upon completion of the home education program with the district school superintendent, along with the annual evaluation required in paragraph (f), within 30 days of termination.

(d) The parent shall maintain a portfolio of records and materials. The portfolio must consist of the following:

1. A log of educational activities that is made contemporaneously with the instruction and that designates by title any reading materials used.
2. Samples of any writings, worksheets, workbooks, or creative materials used or developed by the student.

(e) The parent shall determine the content of the portfolio, preserve it for 2 years, and make it available for inspection, if requested, by the district school superintendent, or the district school superintendent’s agent, upon 15 days’ written notice. Nothing in this section shall require the district school superintendent to inspect the portfolio.

(f) The parent shall provide for an annual educational evaluation in which is documented the student’s demonstration of educational progress at a level commensurate with her or his ability. The parent shall select the method of evaluation and shall file a copy of the evaluation annually with the district school superintendent’s office in the county in which the student resides. The annual educational evaluation shall consist of one of the following:

1. A teacher selected by the parent shall evaluate the student’s educational progress upon review of the portfolio and discussion with the student. Such teacher shall hold a valid regular Florida certificate to teach academic subjects at the elementary or secondary level;
2. The student shall take any nationally normed student achievement test administered by a certified teacher;
3. The student shall take a state student assessment test used by the school district and administered by a certified teacher, at a location and under testing conditions approved by the school district;
4. The student shall be evaluated by an individual holding a valid, active license pursuant to the provisions of s. 490.003(7) or (8); or

5. The student shall be evaluated with any other valid measurement tool as mutually agreed upon by the district school superintendent of the district in which the student resides and the student's parent.

(2) The district school superintendent shall accept the results of the annual educational evaluation of the student in a home education program. If the student does not demonstrate educational progress at a level commensurate with her or his ability, the district school superintendent shall notify the parent, in writing, that such progress has not been achieved. The parent shall have 1 year from the date of receipt of the written notification to provide remedial instruction to the student. At the end of the 1-year probationary period, the student shall be reevaluated as specified in paragraph (1)(f). Continuation in a home education program shall be contingent upon the student demonstrating educational progress commensurate with her or his ability at the end of the probationary period.

(3) A home education program shall be excluded from meeting the requirements of a school day.

(4) Home education students may participate in interscholastic extracurricular student activities in accordance with the provisions of s. 1006.15.

(5) Home education students may participate in the Bright Futures Scholarship Program in accordance with the provisions of ss. 1009.53-1009.538.

(6) Home education students may participate in dual enrollment programs in accordance with ss. 1007.27(4) and 1007.271(13).

(7) Home education students are eligible for admission to Florida College System institutions in accordance with the provisions of s. 1007.263.

(8) Home education students are eligible for admission to state universities in accordance with the policies and guidelines of the Board of Governors.

(9) Testing and evaluation services at diagnostic and resource centers shall be available to home education program students, including, but not limited to, students with disabilities, in accordance with the provisions of s. 1006.03.

(10) A school district may provide exceptional student education-related services, as defined in State Board of Education rule, to a home education program student with a disability who is eligible for the services and who enrolls in a public school solely for the purpose of receiving those related services. The school district providing the services shall report each student as a full-time equivalent student in the class and in a manner prescribed by the Department of Education, and funding shall be provided through the Florida Education Finance Program pursuant to s. 1011.62.

(11) A school district may provide access to career and technical courses and programs for a home education program student who enrolls in a public school solely for the career and technical courses or programs. The school district that provides the career and technical courses and programs shall report each student as a full-time equivalent student in the class and in a manner prescribed by the department, and funding shall be provided through the Florida Education Finance Program pursuant to s. 1011.62.

(12) Industry certifications, national assessments, and statewide, standardized assessments offered by a school district shall be available to home education program students. Each school district shall notify home education program students of the available certifications and assessments; the date, time, and locations for the administration of each certification and assessment; and the deadline for notifying the school district of the student's intent to participate and the student's preferred location.

(13) A school district may not further regulate, exercise control over, or require documentation from parents of home education program students beyond the requirements of this section unless the regulation, control, or documentation is necessary for participation in a school district program.

FPEA

Florida Parent
Educators Association

Who Is the FPEA

The FPEA serves thousands of homeschooling families in Florida, delivering a wealth of support, guidance and information to both new and longtime home educators. The "FPEA Experience" involves a banding together of homeschoolers to accomplish the task of developing academic and personal excellence by sharing resources, creating connections, enhancing relationships and breaking down barriers. Acknowledging there is no one "right" way to educate, the FPEA acts as an ambassador and champion, serving and protecting the rights and choices of all homeschoolers.

Mission Statement:

The Florida Parent-Educators Association exists solely to serve homeschooling families in Florida. It executes that mission through support for the legal right to homeschool, local school board education and interaction, support group networking, a state convention, local conferences and events, informative communications, and individual encouragement, all in accordance with Judeo-Christian principles.

Membership

Why Join

Connection to Experts

The FPEA delivers personal access to District Directors. Just a call or a click away, these experienced homeschoolers answer questions, offer encouragement, communicate timely information and identify trends.

Your FPEA District Directors also work with you in dealing with local school officials, making sure homeschool laws are understood and followed.

The FPEA Guide to Homeschooling in Florida (free access for members) keeps 100-plus pages of expert advice at your fingertips. Also, the members-only FPEA Connect newsletter is packed with helpful articles.

Join FPEA now!

Protection of Your Rights

The FPEA helps safeguard your legal right to homeschool by keeping its finger on the pulse of what's happening in Tallahassee and Washington. The FPEA partners with the Home Education Foundation (a full-time lobbyist) and the Home School Legal Defense Association. The annual FPEA Day at the Capitol shows legislators that homeschoolers have a united voice.

The FPEA organizes and promotes a statewide network of local homeschool support groups. The FPEA website is a one-stop shop for information on groups in your area and how to connect with them.

The annual FPEA Florida Homeschool Convention unites thousands of homeschoolers statewide. And FPEA-sponsored local conferences and events cover topics ranging from getting started to obtaining college scholarships.

Join FPEA now!

Discounts and Opportunities

FPEA members receive a deep discount on registration for the annual FPEA Florida Homeschool Convention (and a free advance copy of the Convention program), discounts on educational merchandise from participating vendors, and savings on HSLDA membership.

The FPEA enables high school seniors to experience the joy of wearing a cap and gown at the FPEA Statewide Graduation Ceremony. Also, the FPEA Homeschool Foundation provides opportunities for college scholarships.
